

Rev Roy Taylor, Chaplain 2009 - 2014

Rev. Taylor is a graduate of Oxford University's Exeter College, York University and the University of Wales.

He was ordained for the Diocese of Blackburn and has served in the Church of England, as well as the Diocese in Europe and in the Diocese of Meath and Kildare in the Church of Ireland.

He served as a Vicar near Lancaster and then spent 6 years as Chaplain of Holy Trinity Church, Geneva, Switzerland followed by a short spell in Tenerife.

He was a translator and student in Krakow in Poland, and has most recently served as Rector of Julianstown Union in the Diocese of Meath and Kildare, Ireland.

In 2018, the Bishop of Clogher, the Right Revd John McDowell, appointed Rev. Taylor as Incumbent of the Clones Group of Parishes. This includes St. Tighernach's Parish Church in the centre of Clones as well as Killeevan, Currin and Newbliss churches in County Monaghan.

Rev. Taylor is fluent in German, has good French and Polish and has basic Hebrew. His hobbies include travelling, walking and cooking.